Trustee Forum Takes Place Tuesday Night

In a determined effort to arouse public interest in the high school school trustee election of May 18, a public forum, at which all three candidates for the board will appear, has been scheduled for next Tuesday, May 15, at 7:30 p. m. at the Camden High School Caletorium.

The forum is sponsored by the Faculty Club of the Campbell Union High School District and all three candidates, Ray Bishop, incumbent, Edwin B. Jennings and Thayer D. Lyons, have been invited to state their platform and qualifications.

The Faculty Club emphasizes that it is not supporting any one candidate but is only trying to serve the community's best interests by promoting the open forum where the voters can learn the candidates' opinions on various school issues.

This marks the first time that a faculty group has taken the lead in a move to create interest in a trustee election in this area. According to Miss Pat Kutzner, liaison officer between the club and PTA's, the teachers felt that more interest by the voters should be shown in school affairs and undertook the sponsoring of the forum for that reason.

Ernie Pope is president of the Faculty Club.

Council Names Woman to Board

History was made in Campbell Monday night when Mrs. Laura Wershing, 66 Hunt Way, became one of the two citizen-members of the newly formed Personnel Board. As one councilman put it, this marks the first time in the history of the town that "one of the weaker sex" has been appointed to an official board by the council.

Milton J. Mayer, 28 El Caminito, west coast manager for the Red Star Yeast & Products, was the other appointee. Mrs. Wershing is a buyer for Hart's department store. The two new members, with the five councilmen, who are also members of the board will hold their first meeting this Friday night.

One of the board's first official functions will be to act on the results of the examination for the sergeant vacancy now existing in the police department. The examination will take place next Wednesday, May 16, at the Rosemary School.

City Can't Tinker With Old 'Tinker'

City councilmen cannot act as dog catchers no matter how irritated their constituents might become over actions of any canine in town.

This was pointed out Monday night when a group of residents on Bucknall Road in the Westchester Park area petitioned the City Dads to remove a dog from their neighborhood.

The residents cited four reasons why "Tinker", a collie, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Stierham, 525 Bucknall Road, had upset the neighborhood.

They claimed (1) that no effort had been made to alleviate the constant barking of "Tinker" and the dog's outbursts take place both day and night; (2) on two occasions the dog had attacked youngsters; (3) when "Tinker" was released in the evenings he roamed the front yards of the neighborhood creating a hazard and (4) under the restrictions of the tract, the petitioners claimed that the dog was a nuisance.

They asked the "established authorities of the City of Campbell" to remove the animal and notify them when the action was completed. The petition signers included Mr. and Mrs. Lowell P. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Georgianni, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Pennington and S. Mansfield. The residents are all located on Rickey Court on Bucknall Road.

The city attorney explained that the city cannot enforce tract restrictions and unless "Tinker" was violating a city ordinance, the city police could not intervene. He thought the county health officers, however, could enter the picture, if the dog persisted in biting youngsters.

The council directed the mayor to reply by letter to the petitioners.

X-RAY UNIT COMES HERE

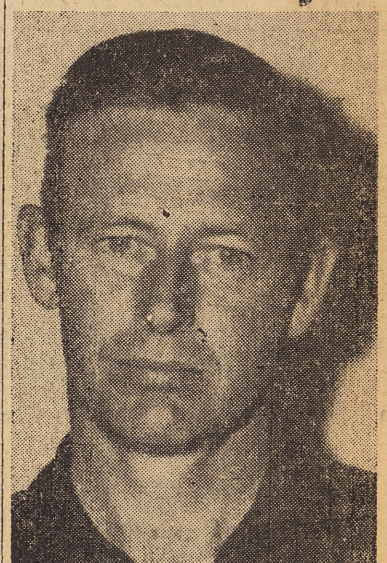
Sponsored jointly by the Campbell Women's Service Club and the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, the mobile x-ray unit will be in Campbell next Tuesday, May 15, to give free chest x-rays to all local residents.

The x-ray unit will set up its operation next to the Campbell Press office at the corner of Campbell and Dillon avenues. It will operate from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 1 to 4:30 p. m.

No charges are made for the x-rays and a determined effort has been made by the sponsors to contact as many people as possible in order to take advantage of this service.

Health officials maintain that chest x-rays should be taken at least once each year and that people of all ages catch TB but that if the disease is discovered early, it can be cured. Tuberculosis is still one of the most common causes of death among adults, they point out and that it is not inherited. It is especially prevalent in men over 40 and women over 45.

Lions Elect Lyons



LIONS' LYONS . . . Thayer Lyons, local contractor and candidate for the high school board, was elected this week as president of the Campbell Lions Club for the coming year. Other officers elected were, Ronald Arnold, firt vice president; Robert James, second vice-president; Ross Walker, third vice-president; Huntley Miller, secretary; Rip Schleeter, corresponding secretary and Ted Solari, treasurer. Installation of the officers will take place June 30.

AND NOW IT'S HISTORY . . . Mother Nature smiled on Campbell last weekend and held back all rain until the most successful Old Settlers' celebration in its 64-year history had been completed. The sun even tried to shine while the town's biggest parads moved down Campbell Ave. viewed by an estimated crowd of 17,000. Rain fell on all sides of Campbell but apparently Mother Nature wanted to see the festivities through to a successful conclusion. The melodrama, "The Curse of An Aching Heart" opened the events on Friday night and a program at the high school ball field honoring motherhood closed the 64th annual celebration Sunday afternoon.

Planners May Rezone Winchester Area

All previous objections to a zone-change request for a piece of property on Winchester Road vanished at the Planning Commission meeting last Thursday night when the parties involved announced that they amicably had agreed to trade lots. Because of this compromise they jointly asked the commission to rezone an even larger area than that first requested by Myron R. English.

English, who now owns 50-feet between two 100-foot lots owned by the Assembly of God Church, through his attorney Edward Bean, reported that a trade of 38-feet of his property for a similar slice of the church land had been agreed upon.

English originally had asked that his property now zoned residential be changed to commercial in order for him to construct an office building on it. At the first hearing, it was pointed out that this would definitely separate and inconvenience the church, as the church owns a house on its second lot.

It had been suggested by Commissioner J. A. Tomlinson at that hearing that the church people and English get together to work out some compromise. Thursday's action was a direct result of this suggestion.

The commission, through a motion by Hollis Logue, after considerable discussion, agreed to initiate rezoning proceedings and set the hearing date for June 7. Commissioner Sam O'Brien wondered whether it was within their realm to initiate such proceedings. Tomlinson questioned whether it should all be changed to commercial, pointing out that the area to be changed would extend from Latimer Ave. to the church property. The motion to rezone was made without prejudice so not to commit the commission to any definite stand.

Other Actions

In other actions, the commission:

1. Set a public hearing for June 7 to establish sectional district No. 25 into a R-1 zone. This area was recently annexed to the city.

2. Set a public hearing for June 7 on the application of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Burda to change a R-1 zone to M-1-S for property at 50 Mission Way. The property is now known as the Campbell Hatchery and the intent is to establish a wood-working plant at the location.

3. Granted architectural approval for a cherry stand of the Mayfair Packing Co. on the San Jose-Los Gatos Road.

4. Granted architectural approval to Texaco, subject to conditions laid down by the city engineer, for a service station on the northeast corner of San Tomas Road and Campbell Ave.

5. Specified that equipment-rental firms must be located in C-2 zones, if equipment is kept inside the building and M-1 if kept in an open lot.

6. Learned that the cost for making plan-lines for Winchester Road and Campbell Ave. would be met from the city general engineering budget and not from the commission.

7. Approved the report presented by Elmer D'Angelo, of the city engineer's office on standard street cross-sections. The report would eliminate 50-foot width streets and would establish uniform parkways for sidewalks, utilities, trees and parking.

8. Submitted an increased budget request to the City Council to allow for more complete master plan studies. The planners asked for $5895 to run their show

CAMPBELL MAY ADOPT SALES TAX ORDINANCE IN ORDER TO FINANCE MAJOR IMPROVEMENTS

To finance any major improvement program for Campbell or to carry out a program of aggressive annexation as advocated by many local groups nd individuals, it will be necessary to adopt a city sales tax.

This was made clear on Monday night when Councilman Richard Morton, who served as mayor for four years, told his fellow councilmen that the sales tax means was the only method possible to raise the needed capital.

He advocated the appointment immediately of a citizen's committee whose sole purpose would be to study the needed improvements for the city, including street and storm drainage projects, and recommend to the council the action that must be taken to accomplish these objectives.

The council agreed wholeheartedly with Morton's thinking. Mayor John M. Chargin announced that he would try to name members to the citizen's committee by the next meeting.

Morton explained that the adoption of the city sales tax was contrary to the stand the City Council had advocated from the beginning. When the present legislation was adopted setting up machinery for a uniform sales tax in those counties that desired it, Campbell was one of the lone opponents to it. But no other means of financing remains. In face of the apparent attitude of the residents of Campbell that an aggressive annexation policy is needed, coupled with more capital improvements, the sales tax leaves the only way out.

"To combat San Jose's tactics in the annexation field", Morton said, "we must have some weapon. Without the proper financing all we have now is a cream puff and that's no good."

Setting up a sales tax just for Campbell would not have been necessary if the county supervisors would adopt a county-wide tax as advocated by the cities. Under such a system, the state would collect the taxes. However, the county has been holding out for at least a 25 per cent cut of the tax money. Local councilmen feel that hope for a compromise between the cities and counties apparently now is gone.

Because of the county's attitude, with only a few exceptions, all the cities in the county are now either in the process of adopting their own sales tax or they already have

CITY TO GET NEW OFF-STREET PARKING AREAS

More off-street parking facilities for downtown Campbell were assured this week when William Lloyd of the Ainsley Corporation, owners of a number of local business properties, announced that his firm was beginning work on two parking lots immediately with still another lot in the planning stage.

Lloyd said that one parking lot 80-feet by 140-feet is located between Harrison and Central at the rear of the buildings owned by the company. Several buildings had to be removed from this property first. Another lot 60-feet by 140-feet lies between Foote St. and Page St. at the rear of the Towne Pride Mart. The third one planned will be on what was known as the Morton property on Campbell Ave. west of the Towne Pride Mart.

Lloyd pointed out that the developing of these parking lots is the first step in a face-lifting plan for Campbell Ave. business houses owned by his firm. He explained that remodeling plans are being worked out for the stores facing on Campbell Ave. between Harrison and Central.

Originally, he pointed out, a more ambitious plan for remodel-

Hamilton Plan-Line Reaches Final Stage

Adoption of the controversial 120-foot width plan-line for Hamilton Ave. as the law of the city became a virtual certainty Monday night when the City Council gave the second reading and ordered the publication of the ordinance establishing the official width of the street.

Despite the fact, however, that the hearing on the matter had been closed at the previous meeting, the loyal opposition, which has been present throughout the months of discussion, made a final effort to dissuade the council from adopting the plan-line.

A petition was presented to the council by the Rutherford family interests asking that the council reconsider its action. Councilman Myron L. Fairchild moved that the petition be filed and not considered because it was received after the close of the hearing.

Former Mayor Richard Morton, who previously argued for a more narrow street, voted against the motion. After it was carried, Morton then moved the adoption of the ordinance setting the street width at 120-feet.

Councilman Charles Rose, a strong supporter of the adopted plan-line, after voting for the adoption turned to the objectors and said, "I live in the neighborhood and my property is vitally affected by this and I know what it means but I still think it is necessary."

Lengthy Agenda

The Hamilton Ave. action by the council was just one item on the lengthy agenda which kept the city dads in session until midnight on Monday.

During the meeting, the council also:

1. Deferred action on the establishment of fire zones for Campbell until the June 4 meeting and instructed Fire Chief Jack Scott and Building Inspector W. L. (Bud) Morser to present a more complete explanation at that time on what the proposed fire zones mean. Councilmen had expressed confusion over what the basic differences were between fire zones.

2. Adopted a resolution setting up the machinery for putting the new house numbering system into operation after Nestor Barrett, planning consultant, had explained the procedures.

Barrett said that the building inspector was prepared to issue numbers at the present time upon request and that within the 60-day grace period all residents would be notified of their new numbers by mail. He also said that all business houses on Campbell and Winchester Road had been contacted personally by representatives of his and the building inspector's office and have been given new numbers.

The planning consultant observed that is was "astonishing" what had been uncovered in their contacts. Some people, he said, (He thought more than 50 per cent) despite the publicity in the newspapers claimed that they knew nothing about the new numbering system going into effect and that it was all news to them.

3. Directed Mayor John M. Chargin to contact the mayor and City Council of Los Gatos to discuss common annexation problems affecting the two cities.

4. Set June 4 as the public hearing date on the adoption of the plumbing code for the City of Campbell.

5. Appointed Nestor Barrett to represent the city at the bay area meeting on rapid transit on May 17.

Zone-change Hearing

6. Set June 21 as the hearing date for the change of zone of the San Jose-Los Gatos Road between Campbell and Hamilton avenues. The Planning Commission had previouly submitted a recommendation that this area be changed from M-1-S to C-1-S. A petition signed by 126 residents adjacent to the area had also requested that a zone change be made for the entire area.

7. Directed Mark Thomas, city engineer, to apply to the state for $2115.38 and an additional $8354.58 for flood damage to streets suffered in December. Thomas reported that damage to the local streets totalled $19,636.41 and that the city had already received $2621.03 from the state. He said that the city was assured of the additional $2115.38 and felt that the city was also entitled to the $8254.58 under the state law.

8. Approved the application for the Marchese Farms to move a building down Harrison to Hamilton and thence to Winchester with the warning that in the future such applications should go through the proper channels. It was also learned that the city ordinance on granting permits for moving was duplicated in the city building code which also authorizes the building inspector to issue such permits. Fees can be levied in each case.

The city attorney, Joseph Bonacina, was directed to correct this duplication.

Slaps Wrists

9. Slapped the wrists of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, after hearing report of the fire chief that civic organizations that conducted concessions at the carnival during Old Settlers' Day did not comply with the fire regulations.

10. Suggested that T. Coughan, who wants to build a curb without a gutter at Campbell Ave. and Carlyn, deposit the necessary money for the gutter in a trust fund to be used when the street is eventually widened and the present curbs has to be moved. Denied Coughan, however, his informal request made through LeRoy Black, street superintendent, that the sidewalk jog around a tree that was in the way.

11. Heard the city attorney report that progress is being made in the legal technicalities involved in the acquiring of the Congregational Church property for a city hall.

12. Appointed two new members to the newly formed Personnel Board (See separate story)

13. Received a petition requesting the removal of a dog from a neighborhood (see separate story)

14. Heard Councilman Richard Morton declare that he felt that it was necessary in order to carry out an "aggressive annexation policy" to adopt a city sales tax (see separate story).

15. Received $927.50 from the state controller for the city's share in the alcohol tax from September 1 to February 29.

16. Proclaimed May 25-26 as Veterans of Foreign Wars Buddy Poppy Day.

BUCS GATHER BIG SHARE OF SPRING TITLES

Campbell High School athletes were winding up the spring sports season this week with at least a tie for one title cinched (baseball), a good chance to cop another (track), a triple tie for another (tennis) and second place in still another (swimming).

Provided the weather permits the Buc baseballers can win undisputed claim to the Santa Clara Valley Athletic League pennant by taking Mountain View in their final diamond battle. Their win over Santa Clara last week cinched a first place tie.

The Buc swimmers lost a heartbreaking swimming meet and the title by four points last Saturday when Santa Clara won the SCVAL championship in the Campbell pool. Santa Clara racked up 75 points to the Buc's 71. The other teams lagged far behind. The Bees however swamped their opponents by winning a count of 73. Santa Clara came in second with 44.

Mike Scroggins won first place in the "A" division in the 100-yard breast troke and the 200-yard free medley team, Britt Finley, Jim Mallman, Dave Andre and John Davenport, took first and set a new record in so doing for the two line Buc first place wins.

Bill Duncan, Jim Omura, Doug Campbell, and the 100-yard medley relay team, Pat Franco, Bob Peltier, Jim Omura and Tim Gallagher, won first places in the Bees.

Inclement weather held up the trial events in the SCVAL track meet scheduled for Los Gatos. Postponed once it may be possible to complete the meet by this Saturday. Campbell has the unofficial dual meet title tucked away already.

By losing to Mountain View 4-3 last week the local tennis team had to be content with a three-way share of the league title.

iing of the stores nad been outlined. Under that plan the entire business block would have been changed allowing entrance to the parking lot from Campbell Ave. as well as from Central and Harrison. This plan could not be carried out to its full extent, however, he said because a number of individual property owners in the block would not cooperate.

Lloyd feels that the development and face-lifting of Campbell Ave. is a necessary step for the future of the community. He is somewhat perplexed and disappointed by the attitude of ome of thoe who place road-block in the way by their reticence to either sell or take part in any change.

"The attachment some people in Campbell have for their old building and their desire to hang onto them is utterly amazing", he adds.

Buc Nine Tops Santa Clara Panthers

Cinches Tie For League Championship With 10-5 Win

Rain stopped the game in the sixth inning but the Bucs still gained a 10-5 victory over the Panthers to cinch a tie for the league crown.

Matt Musladin smashed 3 hits in 3 trips to the plate and drove in 2 runs besides stealing 3 bases and scoring once to be a great asset to the locals. The only other hit for the Bucs went to John Magliocco as he hit 1 for 4,, drove in 2 and scored once himself.

Every member of the SCVAL leading Bucs scored in this game. The Panthers out-hit the Bucs 5-4 but their hits were so strung out that they were unsuccessful.

Bob Sutton has now struck out 52 in 33 innings, 10 of these last Thursday. He walked 8, gave up 5 hits and 5 runs.

The Bucs will meet Mt. View this afternoon to decide if they are going to be champs or will have to share it with Fremont whom they shared it with last year. Santa Clara was the last team to down the Bucs in league play. They did this in the opening game of last season.

A happy family is but an earlier heaven. —Sir John Rowring

THE SUN SHINES ON CAMPBELL

Campbell should be proud of the 64th Annual Old Settlers' Day, which is now history.

The huge parade, which was the climax for the three-day affair, was the most outstanding in the long history of the celebration which is the second oldest in the state of California.

The Rose Parade (which is the oldest in the state) may have more floats and much, much more money is involved in staging that event, but we question whether any more enthusiasm per capita was ever engendered at Pasadena on any New Year's Day than there was in Campbell last Saturday.

A crowd of 17,000 is estimated to have viewed the two-hour long spectacle down Campbell Ave. — and they were not disappointed.

We think probably the most outstanding point of the entire parade, outside of the floats, bands and the military units, was the fact that sun tried its best to get a peak at the parade, despite the fact that most of the surrounding cities were drenched with rains.

We will never know why Campbell was blessed with a drought during the parade time, but we will always be thankful to kind Providence for it.

The Chamber of Commerce and all those who were responsible for changing the date from February 22 (the original date of the event) to May must also be thankful that Mother Nature smiled on Campbell last Saturday.

Despite the fact that February 22 this year was a very stormy one (we made a note of that), those who advocated the change to a later date because of weather would have been quite upset if the rains had come last Saturday.

So all in all it was a great event and we know that all the residents of the community are looking forward to an even greater one next year.

We know we are.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

The California Association of Nurserymen recommends container grown roses be transplanted to a garden home soon after obtained. The floribunda, however, will make a fine container subject and can be attractively grown in a tub or large pot on the terrace or patio.

Roses in the Sun

Roses should be planted in full or more than a half day's sun in a site affording good drainage. Prepare the planting hole to the proper depth so that the plant will sit in the soil at the same level it did in the nursery container. Water and feed regularly as you do for your Roses already established in the garden. If the Rose is to be grown in a container give it a rich mixture of soil and feed lightly with a balanced fertilizer throughout the growing season.

In all cases ask your nurseryman's advice on the care of your Rose gift. He'll be able to suggest a feeding and watering schedule that will closely parallel his care in the nursery and will keep the plant beautiful in the years to come.

Cymbidium Orchids

There is no lovelier flower than the orchid and most owners of Cymbidium orchid will hasten to add—— there is no lovelier orchid than the Cymbidium.

These rare, beautiful flowers are borne on gracefully arching or upright spikes in sprays often consisting of twelve to twenty blooms. Unlike many members of the orchid family, Cymbidiums are easily grown. Native to regions of India where the temperature approximates that of the Central Pacific Coast Area, Cymbidiums enjoy about the same growing conditions as Azaleas, Fuchsias, Tuberous Begonias or Camellias. Terrestial orchids, they grow at what may be termed "ground level" as compared to the tree-top and cliff-side habitats of the tropical varieties.

Where there is no danger of frost, the California Association of Nurserymen points out, Cymbidiums may be grown directly in the ground; however, most growers still prefer to use pots or containers which may be brought under cover during the blooming season to protect the opened flowers from rain and wind.

Good Drainage

Good drainage is the most important factor in the cultivation of this exotic plant. While Cymbidiums should be kept moist during most of the year, avoid excessive wetness. Plant the flower in an equal mixture of wood shavings, well-broken peat moss and sandy loam. Before potting or planting mix 1½ ounces of good garden fertilizer per cubic foot of this mixture. Fertilize lightly with a special orchid mixture at the directions of your nurseryman. During the warm dry summer months, occasional overhead watering is recommended. Soak the soil and then do not water again until the soil is barely damp.

In its various varieties the cymbidium blooms as early as December to as late as June with the peak blooming season occurring during April and May. Individual flowers measure from three to five inches across in colors ranging through whites, pinks, yellows, greens, bronzes, browns and some reds. It is not unusual to find combinations of various pastel shades of these colors. Check with your nurseryman to insure selecting the Cymbidium variety which will bloom during the season you prefer—indeed, for the variety which will give best results in your area.

NOW, HERE'S WHAT WE ARE DOING . . . Joe Anello, Campbell Press advertising manager(with rule) explains to a blue-ribbon audience (as far the The Press is concerned) how information he gained at the advertising seminar he attended last weekend at San Jose State College will help The Press do an even better job for the local advertisers. OUT on the LIMB with
George Vierhus

We received word this week that our nephew, Jack Vierhus, a Navy enlisted man who has been attending the Bainbridge Navy prep school in Maryland has passed the U. S. Naval Academy entrance examinations. He will enter the academy as a plebe this June.

We naturally are quite proud of the guy's achievement, for he did it all on his own. He was chosen from the ranks so to speak and was not dependent on any appointment.

Along with his parents we are busting our buttons. We will always like to think that the staff of The Campbell Press had something to do with Jack making the grade.

—o—

When we learned that Jack was facing his final examination and was probably under considerable pressure, we at The Press thought something ought to be done to relieve this pressure.

So through the combined efforts of Lyle Ray, office manager, Joe Anello, ad manager and his assistant, Anita Jacobus and Cliff Cassiday, our co-publisher and head man in the back shop, we ran off a special edition of The Press for him, complete with headlines etc. In our special edition we kidded Jack about his new vocation (future admiral) compared to his old one, i. e. a plumber. (He had helped his dad between college terms).

The paper arrived in Maryland just as he was taking his finals and his classmates and he apparently got a big bang out of it.

So now that he has made it, we at The Press are taking our bows, claiming we indirectly had something to do with his success.

If he hadn't made it, of course, that would have been a different story.

—o—

We are now comfortably settled in our house in Westchester Park on Christopher Ave. We thought we ought to report that fact, inasmuch as several weeks ago in this column we were quite critical of the delay involved in getting our G. I. loan through on the house. (It took three months).

Outside of a couple of minor details taking up residence in our new abode was accomplished with a minimum of wear and tear on our nerves and furnishings.

Our furnace refused to work at first but prompt action on the part of the John Plog Sheet Metal and Heating Co., of Campbell, the firm that installed the central heating units in the subdivision, soon had that under control.

The same thing had happened to the thermostat on our furnace that had happened to eight others in the tract. A new thermostat had to be installed because someone had stolen the mercury from it, carefully cutting the wires in so doing it.

—o—

Why anyone wanted the little old mercury from a thermostat was beyond our comprehension. It seemed to us that it was a lot of work to go through for that little bit of mercury. Besides we had no idea what use mercury would be to anyone.

We were told that gold prospectors use mercury in their mining activities. To find the culprit who was mercury-stripping the houses, all one would have to do would be check the prospectors.

That is a new one on us.

—o—

The Campbell police department, assisted by the full complement of auxiliary officers, had a big job on their hands Saturday in handling the traffic for the Old Settlers' Day celebration.

We think they did an excellent job. The policing was efficiently taken care of and both the regular cops and the reserves are to be commended for their efforts.

"No parking" signs were posted on various streets on Saturday and it was necessary in a few cases to tow away a few cars that were in the restricted zones.

Among those who missed their cars after the parade was Rep. Charles S. Gubser, of Gilroy, who was luncheon speaker and grand marshal (on horseback) of the parade. His car had been parked in a "no parking" area and had been trundled away with the others.

He was a little perturbed when he first missed his car but got quite a kick out of it when he found out what had happened.

—o—

The crowd was extremely good-natured, we thought. We think everyone thoroughly enjoyed the parade. Of course, we are prejudiced because we have always liked parades.

We liked the entire celebration from start to finish, our first Old Settlers' Day in Campbell. We think Sam Cava, George Kemp, Herb Shadle, Sarah Blue and all the others who worked so hard to make it successful should feel quite contented over the results.

Incidentally we were quite pleased with the way Mother Nature acted also.

MISSES PARADE!

Heavy showers, complete with old-fashioned mid-western thunder and lightning, struck here Tuesday afternoon, and brought .46 inches of rain with it raising the total for the season to 21.12 inches.

No rain fell to spoil the 64th Annual Old Settlers' Day celebration last Saturday and Sunday but it looked pretty bad for a while. On Friday .16 inches dropped.

Last year to date 12.50 inches had fallen which was also the total for the season with the last rainfall on May 8. Normal to date is 13.12 inches.

'Play Day' Set For Tomorrow at Moreland School

Play Day and Color Day, with children dressed in bright, clashing colors, will be held at Moreland School tomorrow, when the entire school will participate in sports and games.

Award assembly at 10:30 a. m. will start the day's activities when boys and girls will receive athletic awards. Library certificates will also be awarded to all boys and girls who have read six or more books during the year.

Lunch will follow awards at 11:30 a. m. when hot dogs, a cheese dish, potato salad, beans and milk will be served. Total price for the lunch, 5 cents, will be partially made possible by commercial donations and the remaining expense to be paid by the student body. Room mothers will serve lunch.

After lunch, games and sports events will be held with students divided into mixed teams of boys and girls in foot races volley ball, basketball, sack races, three-legged races, wheelbarrow races, a pie eating contest, and other events.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

MOTHER'S DAY GIFTS

To honor and please your mother, there's no finer gift on Mother's day than a growing plant, especially if it's a Rhododendron, Pelargonium, Azalea or Cymbidium Orchid. These lovely flowering plants offer luscious blooms in a veritable rainbow of colors, and if you have a gardening mother a growing plant that she can plant in her garden is a special treat.

A fine plant for gift selection, the Rhododendron grows in all sizes, bears leathery green foliage the year around and produces some of the loveliest and most colorful flowers in all flowerdom.

In selecting a Rhododendron gift for Mother's Day choose from the dwarf or the tall growing shrubs in reds, pinks, scarlets, purples, lavenders, yellows, orange-salmon and white. Some of the best hybrid varieties on the Rhododendron market are the pinks Betty Wormald and Cottage Garden's Pride. Unknown Warrior is a brilliant red; ivory white flowers appear on the Dr. Stocker.

Azaleas

The Azalea also makes a lovely gift and is available in deciduous or evergreen species and varieties. This shrub grows well in most areas of the state, even in the interior valleys where it is grown in pure peat to protect it from the hot, dry weather. Azaleas, too, offer beautiful, exotic blooms—Pride of Mobile is rose-pink with purple blotches, Ward's Ruby has dark ruby-red flowers, Coral Bells blooms in shell-pink and Albert and Elizabeth in white with pink borders.

The Pelargonium, commonly known as the Geranium, has many interesting species in its family, in addition to the Geranium. The foliage Geraniums—Lemon, Peppermint, Nutmeg, Oakleaf and Rose—feature leaves that give off spicy fragrances when crushed. These species bear small flowers of pastel colors. The Lady Washington Geranium called Pelargonium makes a colorful gift and garden planting with its showy flowers in white, pink, red, lavender and purple.

Widest range of colors in blooms is offered by the garden Geranium. It grows in fancy-leaved varieties, dwarf forms and with single or double flowers in white and many shades of red, pink, salmon, orange and purple-Crimson.

Spectacular is the word to describe the Cymbidium Orchid and a spectacular gift it will make, too! In general, Cymbidiums grow well from San Luis Obispo south to San Diego. They can also be grown successfully in special situations in the home in other areas of the state too.

Cymbidium Orchid

The Cymbidium Orchid blooms in shades of yellow, straw, bronze, mahogany, pink crimson-rose, greenish gold, chartreuse and brown. Colors often vary considerably in the same varieties of this flower, however. A few of the loveliest varieties are Cymbidium Victor, free blooming in varying shades of yellow and bronze; Cymbidium Hugh Evans, usually greenish gold with red lips; and Cymbidium Butterfly, shades of yellow, bronze, mahogany and occasionally pink.

Your nurseryman will best be able to guide you in Orchid culture. Cymbidiums should have filtered sunlight, a fibrous soil mixed with plenty of coarse leaf mold or peat moss, and good drainage. They do particularly well in pots.

Container Roses for Mother

Throughout the world the Rose is a beloved flower. For special occasions nothing is nicer than a bouquet of Roses . . . Nothing, that is, except a living Rose plant ready to be planted so it can produce lovely bouquets for all occasions through the years. That's why this Mother's Day container grown Roses are a gift sure to please your mother.

In selecting a container Rose, choose the newest varieties or the old favorites from five Rose types: hybrid tea, floribudna, gradiflora, tree or climber.

Circus, a floribunda and All American winner of 1956, will be sure to please with its beautiful blooms in changing tones of red, yellow, orange and pink. Last year's All America winners, Tiffany, Jiminy Cricket and Queen Elizabeth, will make wonderful gifts too. Other long time favorites are Chrysler Imperial, Peace, Mojave, Helen Traubel or Charlotte Armstrong and Lilibet.
